LADY LIBERTY CARD

What works like a check but looks like a credit card? The Allied Credit Union Visa® Check (Debit) Card. The VISA card will give you more convenience since you won't be spending time in line writing a check. Just present your debit card for payment at those places you normally write checks. Your CU VISA Check Card is accepted all over the world – anywhere you see the VISA logo displayed!

The transaction often is processed like a credit card transaction but the card will only deduct funds electronically from your checking account. You sign a receipt and record the amount in your check register. What could be easier?

Your VISA card also will be like an ATM card for your checking account. Make withdrawals from your checking account at any ATM that accepts VISA. Your secret PIN code number will allow you up to $500 in cash ATM withdrawals daily and has no limit for POS transactions. (except of course only up to the amount on deposit in your account).

You can avoid ATM withdrawal fees by using your VISA Check Card and PIN number
